The Crossroads of Faith and Health is the Subject of the 94th Annual Convocation From diabetes to depression, people of faith are often beset with physical ailments that suggest we may be more spiritually healthy than mentally and physically fit. But because we are whole beings, can we even claim to be spiritually healthy when the physical and mental are so impaired? What role should faith play in our health? And what is God's message to the people about living a (w)holistically healthy life? Be engaged with theologians and health practitioners in workshops dealing with HIV/AIDS, the church's role in healthcare, and other specific health issues, and thus discover relevant resources for these critical matters at the School of Divinity's 94th Annual Convocation, "Faith and (W)Holistic Health: At the Crossroads." Already confirmed: Regina M. Benjamin, M.D., M.B.A., 18th Surgeon General of the U.S. Public Health Service on Wednesday, Nov. 3 at 5:30 p.m.; and Rev. Dr. Howard-John Wesley, Pastor, Alfred Street Baptist Church, Alexandria, Va., on Thursday, Nov. 4 at 11 a.m.
